Online Electrical Safety Awareness for Construction

Intended Audience

Electrical Safety Training is designed for construction workers and managers who are responsible for the safety of their job site according to OSHA regulations.

- Construction Managers
- Construction Supervisors
- Construction Employees

Learning Objectives

In this electrical safety awareness online training course, you will be familiarized with basic properties of electricity, why electricity flow is hazardous and how to work safely around electricity with proper use of equipment. You will also be shown the legal requirements for ensuring safety to the highest possible standard in the workplace. When successfully finished with this online course, you will understand the dangers of electric shock and how to avoid injury or death.

Course Topics

- Introduction to Electrical Safety
- Electrical Hazards

Elk Environmental Services is partnered with Clicksafety to offer our clients quality online training.